REVERSES DECISION OF APPEALS COURT

Wood Hagenbarth Cattle Co. Cannot Recover For Alleged Overcharges.

Austin, Texas, May 1.—The supreme court today reversed the judgment of the court of civil appeals and affirmed that of the district court in the case of Galveston Harborside and San Antonio Ry. against the Wood Hagenbarth Cattle Co., from El Paso county. In this case the cattle company sued the railroad company for $1,000 overcharges on four shipments of cattle from Valentin, Texas, to Columbus, N. M. The question at issue was whether or not the shipments are interstate or intrastate. The district court held that they were interstate and decided in favor of the railroad company, and the supreme court today affirmed its decision, while it reversed the judgment of the court of civil appeals which had held that it was an intrastate shipment.

Motion for rehearing was overruled today in the supreme court in the case of Josephine Crosby et al vs T. Richard di Palma et al from El Paso county.

RIFLES SENT TO THE REBEL ARMY

United States and that each day adds more cartridges to the supply. Tuesday afternoon some Mexicans after being searched by the American soldiers at the bridge are said to have gone directly to the Juarez customs house, where they deposited several hundred rounds of ammunition.

AMERICAN CONSUL HELPS ENGLISHMEN

Two Refugees From Mexico Say Federalists Treated Them Cruelly.

Douglas, Ariz., May 1.—Phil H. Sheridan, Jr., and Carl Linville, two of the seven alleged "American Insurrectos" arrested near Fronteras on February 13, and since incarcerated during the greater part of the time in jail at Cananea, are now in Douglas. Both tell a tale of brutal treatment at the hands of Mexican officials. Neither is an American citizen, Sheridan claiming British citizenship, as does Linville, who is his cousin. Their release was secured by the American consul at Cananea.

Sheridan claims that he and Charles Linville and Carl Linville, his son, were on their way to El Tigre to work. They purchased horses in Agua Prieta, he says, also supplies to use on the road intending, if unsuccessful at Cananea, to go to the nearby mountains and prospect. Their horses were stolen while he and his companions were in an Agua Prieta saloon. The officials were informed of the theft, he avers, but told them some one was probably playing a joke on them and that they had better look around for the animals. They started to look, having been joined by four other men. The party went into the foothills and became lost. Finally they found the Tigre power line leaving Agua Prieta, not having anything except some coffee which they purchased at a ranch house, they arrived five miles west of Fronteras. They came upon a bunch of cattle and decided to kill one and eat it. They asked a nearby Mexican who the animal belonged to, but were only told that he did not know. They had only killed the animal and were skinning it when they were surrounded by troops and taken into Fronteras. Their arms, there were three pistols in the bunch of seven men and no sabres or other arms, as had been previously reported, Sheridan said. They were taken before the presidente of Fronteras and paid him $40 Mex. for the cow they had killed. They were then taken to Cucubach and locked into an adobe, but which had a wooden roof. The roof took fire in some way while the prisoners were locked in. They burst out of the doorway and found their 14 Mexican guards outside with their rifles ready to shoot. Fred Grunberg, one of the party, picked up a bucket and started to put out the fire. One of the guards drew a revolver and fired at Grunberg, but his aim was spoiled by Sheridan, who declares that he knocked up the man's arm.

After several days' stay in Cucubach they were joined by Frank Elliott, a Douglas barber, alleged to have held up an Agua Prieta saloon. The march overland then commenced. On the 100 mile march between Fronteras and Cananea but two pieces of bread, about as big as an American bun and one small strip of half spoiled meat were given each of the prisoners, Sheridan said. For fourteen hours the prisoners were not allowed to get a drink of water, although they passed several places where there was water to be had and their guards carried full canteens on their saddles. Elliott collapsed on the march from weakness, his companions taking turns carrying him. A few days after their arrival in

WE BELIEVE IN THE MAN BEHIND THE HOE

Well No. 1, of Little Vineyards Co., one mile east of Deming, equipped with 35 h. p. General Electric Motor, No. 7, American Well Works Pump, delivering 1400 gallons of water per minute.

And are developing water for the irrigation of 1000 acres of the best land in this valley, and are selling the land in small plots for intensive cultivation. In this kind of work the hoe is the factor. Pictures do not convey as convincing an impression of the opportunities which are being offered on The Little Vineyards Company tract as do visits to the land itself. We do not care particularly about selling to speculators but if you want to build up a little home for yourself and are looking for a spot that can be made perfect, drop down to our tract of land, being a mile east of town, and see the wells discharging their water and the land actually in a state of cultivation. Remember that absolute reliability in the water supply is the essential to successful gardening and farming in this valley. The best little plant that could be put on ten acres is neither as independent, as reliable, or as economical in operation as ours. Two splendid wells behind every acre of the land absolutely insures your water supply.

Come and see the land, the water and us. We don't want to trade with you unless we can do you good.

This land is sold on easy payments. Ours is the only poor man's proposition in the Mimbres Valley.

FEDERAL RECRUITS SENT FROM EL PASO

Are Gathered From the Idle Mexicans in the City and Sent to Ojinaga.

Despite the constant denials of the Mexican officials in El Paso and the vigilance of the United States secret service officers, recruiting for the federal forces at Ojinaga is going on in this city in the very shadow of the federal building. Recruits are being obtained from among the great number of idle Mexicans who are now in El Paso and the former Maderista officials and soldiers who are temporarily in El Paso.

A detachment of 200 recruits is reported to have gone down the river Tuesday night and another group is said to be in readiness to go Wednesday night. They are crossing below Marfa and reporting to the Ojinaga commanders, where arms and ammunition are furnished them. These munitions of war are supplied them from the shipments that have been made from El Paso, San Antonio and other points along the border by permission of the United States government.

Mexican consul R. C. Llorente has repeatedly denied that any men have been sent to Ojinaga from El Paso and says that all of the former federal soldiers, officials and volunteers in Juarez are in El Paso and report to the consulate for their pay. But these men are missing from the north Oregon street consulate and are believed to be with the federal forces at Ojinaga. The presence of Garibaldi here at this time is also believed to have a bearing upon the military situation on the Mexican side of the border. Although Garibaldi has said that he was here to visit friends, he has been in conference with representatives of a local detective agency, with Felix Summerfelt, representing the Maderista government, and with other officials.

BUNCO MEN RETURN TO JUAREZ AND ARE FINED
The Juarez police rounded up several of the bunco men again Tuesday night. The men had returned to the city after being told to get out Monday and they were forced to spend the night in jail. Wednesday morning the men were taken before mayor Santiago Mestas and each was required to pay a fine of $25.

AMERICANS DEFEAT BAND OF REBELS IN TEPEC.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 1.—After having been attacked successively on April 14 and 15 by rebels who were repulsed by Americans on both occasions, the Gernich ranch, the largest in the territory of Tepec and owned by Californians, was abandoned by the defenders, who underwent terrible hardships in escaping from the country, according to refugees who have arrived here. There were five men and five women, all Americans, at the ranch and they fought off the rebels with sword-off sheathings. During the last attack the leader of the rebels poured coal oil on the hacienda porch, and when he struck a match to light it he was killed with bullets. Following this repulse, the ranch, which included 25,000 acres of growing corn and 29,000 acres of tobacco, was abandoned to the rebels.

IS NEW MINISTER OBJECTIONABLE TO WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES?

Mexico City, May 1.—A rumor is current that Manuel Calero, the new ambassador to the United States, persona non grata at Washington and for that reason has not been received. Foreign Minister Lascaris said it was impossible for such to be the case, unless Senator Calero of Mexico had committed some breach recently of which he was not advised.

ALBERTO MADERO'S PROPERTY IS CONFISCATED BY REBELS
Alberto Madero, uncle of president Madero, is suffering the wrath of his nephews' enemies. His house in Chihuahua, it is said, was looted by the rebels and the furniture taken from it and appropriated by the rebel families. His auto is also in use by the rebels in Chihuahua for the use of the chiefs and subchiefs of the rebel clan, it is said.

EL IMPARCIAL CORRESPONDENTS ARE RELEASED BY HUERTA

Mexico City, Mexico, May 1.—The arrest of the correspondents of the El Imparcial by military authorities at Torreon was due to the receipt there of copies of the publication containing "inconvenient stories" of the situation in that vicinity.

Later it became known that neither of the correspondents was responsible for the matter published and they were released from custody on representations made by their employers here to the federal commander, general Huerta.

AMERICANS IN SONORA ARE IN FEAR OF INTERVENTION.

Nogales, Ariz., May 1.—Expressing belief in early intervention by the Washington government, refugees from Sonora continue to arrive here. Most of these now leaving Mexico had intended to remain here throughout the trouble.

Mines and stores operated by Americans in northwestern Mexico are being closed in haste and ranchers are sending their cattle to the United States as rapidly as possible.

Yesterday's business at the American custom house includes the entry of more than 2,000 head of cattle of the value of $18,000 on which duty aggregating $12,000 was collected.

AMERICAN WOMEN DENOUNCE CONDITIONS IN MEXICO.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—(Mex.) "Insults to which American men and women have been subjected in Mexico and the danger surrounding them should impel the United States to send relief."

This statement, according to Mrs. Bernard Sawyer, is printed in the Mobile Item today.

Mrs. Sawyer was for three years a resident of Chihuahua. She is quoted as saying that American newspapers have not told half the truth of conditions in Mexico.

"I have witnessed terrible scenes," says Mrs. Sawyer. "In the mining country where many Americans are engaged the greatest suffering and danger exists."
